

A BIRD

A bird flits from tree to tree in an endless search for survival. Its very existence is reward enough to keep it going.

As people we want more than that. We want love, understanding, recognition and reward. We also have souls, which seek a relationship with our Creator. No bird seeks these things yet some people claim we are the same as they are, only with a bigger brain.

How could anyone not see that we are much more than the bird. We are the children of the creator Himself with all of the earth as our gift to enjoy from Him.

© Jamonministries.com

A BIRD

A bird flits from tree to tree in an endless search for survival. Its very existence is reward enough to keep it going.

As people we want more than that. We want love, understanding, recognition and reward. We also have souls, which seek a relationship with our Creator. No bird seeks these things yet some people claim we are the same as they are, only with a bigger brain.

How could anyone not see that we are much more than the bird. We are the children of the creator Himself with all of the earth as our gift to enjoy from Him.

© Jamonministries.com

A BIRD

A bird flits from tree to tree in an endless search for survival. Its very existence is reward enough to keep it going.

As people we want more than that. We want love, understanding, recognition and reward. We also have souls, which seek a relationship with our Creator. No bird seeks these things yet some people claim we are the same as they are, only with a bigger brain.

How could anyone not see that we are much more than the bird. We are the children of the creator Himself with all of the earth as our gift to enjoy from Him.

© Jamonministries.com

A BIRD

A bird flits from tree to tree in an endless search for survival. Its very existence is reward enough to keep it going.

As people we want more than that. We want love, understanding, recognition and reward. We also have souls, which seek a relationship with our Creator. No bird seeks these things yet some people claim we are the same as they are, only with a bigger brain.

How could anyone not see that we are much more than the bird. We are the children of the creator Himself with all of the earth as our gift to enjoy from Him.

© Jamonministries.com

